

100 BODY TO START DRAWING PRINCIPLES

Subcommittees to Meet Monday—Will Discuss Mayoralty Candidates and Declaration

BIG SESSION WEDNESDAY

The executive and platform committees of the committee of one hundred are expected to meet Monday afternoon to consider the names of men mentioned for candidates for Mayor and start the work of drawing up a declaration of principles.

The entire committee is to meet at the City Club Wednesday afternoon. It was said today that the executive committee might decide Monday on the men it considers available as independent candidates.

The executive committee is headed by John Hampton Barnes and the platform committee by Thomas Raeburn White.

Senator Penrose, who has been in Washington since last Sunday, is not expected to return to Philadelphia before Monday. After that he will spend the greater part of his time here working in the campaign.

Penrose to Take "Rest" It was said at the office of the Senator today that he would probably go to Atlantic City tomorrow "for a rest." His followers here state it is more likely he will visit the seashore to confer with Select Councilman Charles Seger, leader of the Seventh ward. Both Penrose and the Vares appear anxious to win the aid of Councilman Seger in the approaching fight.

The present Republican Alliance headquarters, 1430 South Penn square, and the Town Meeting headquarters in the Transportation Building, 26 South Fifteenth street, will be continued. Activities of the committee of one hundred will be directed from the new headquarters, which will be opened as soon as a candidate for the mayoralty nomination has been chosen.

Following the selection of the mayoralty candidate, a campaign committee, which probably will be headed by George W. Coles, chairman of the Town Meeting party, will be appointed.

Hints that Vares may be taking advantage of the differences between the Independents and Alliance men over the man to be endorsed for the mayoralty are conveyed from the Town Meeting and Alliance headquarters.

Vares Sowing Discord Vares, it is intimated, are carrying on a propaganda for the purpose of sowing discord among the independents.

Encouragement of the Winston boom for Mayor and the influx of councilman candidates are attributed to the Vares propaganda. Candidates for Council on the Independent side continue to crop up almost daily. In an effort to head them off and present a united front against the regular organization, headquarters will be maintained in all the senatorial districts.

The first one of these to be opened will be in the Fifth district, where headquarters have been leased at Diamond street and Germantown avenue.

In political circles Judge John M. Patterson is being generally accepted as the man who will be the standard-bearer of the Republican organization.

Charter Record Good Judge Patterson's popularity and his presence on the charter revision committee are counted on by organization men to make inroads on the independent vote.

His announcement of his willingness to run is the strongest declaration made so far by any of the possible candidates who have been mentioned on either side.

Assessment figures certified to the county commissioners by the registration commissioners fix the last December assessment at 417,759 voters. On this number will be based the apportionment of the number of the new Council.

It will consist of twenty-one members as originally planned for in the charter bill.

FILING TIME ENDS THURSDAY Nominating Petitions for Judgeship Are Coming in Fast

Time for filing nominating petitions for judicial primaries will expire next Thursday. Few papers have been entered at the office of the secretary of the commonwealth notwithstanding the fact that Pennsylvania this fall will elect eighteen Common Pleas and five Orphans' Court judges in Philadelphia and a County Court judge in Allegheny.

The office of associate judge appears to have many attractions. There are more than thirty petitions on file for the fourteen judgeships.

The State Department is receiving numerous petitions from aspirants for county and municipal nominations, although such papers have to be filed with county commissioners. The time on this class of nominating papers expires on August 19.

WEAR YOUR VEST TODAY Electric Fans Whirr Not—Hot Drinks Favored Over Soda

November "blew in" on August today. It came without invitation. While everything else was going up, the mercury went down (without extra charge).

Kiddies who awoke this morning found blankets and quilts on their beds and they snuggled up for another hour. Palm Beach suits and straw hats seemed all out of harmony with the atmosphere.

The demand for iced drinks was nil. And best of all the weather man says tomorrow. Yet some persons are dissatisfied. They are the seashore hotelmen.

12 IN TWO YEARS DIE IN KENSINGTON POND

Appeal Will Be Made to City to Fill in Place Following Drowning of Boy

Residents of Kensington say that failure of the city authorities to fill in the pond in an abandoned brickyard at Nicetown lane and G street has caused more than a dozen children to lose their lives during the last two years.

The last victim was nine-year-old Joseph Harmer, 2628 Amber street, who was drowned in the pond yesterday afternoon.

The boy was playing in the brickyard when he saw Mounted Patrolman Fifth approach. He dived into the water to escape detection, but never reappeared. Fifth did not see the boy, but later when he reported to the station house, Fifth was told a boy had been drowned in the pond. Fifth recovered the body after a long search.

Residents of the neighborhood will make another appeal to the city to fill in the dangerous place.

Deaths of a Day

DR. F. S. BOWER DIES

First President of Samaritan Hospital Called by Death

Dr. Franklin S. Bower, first president of the Samaritan Hospital, which was then known as the North Philadelphia Hospital, died yesterday morning at his home, 3218 Germantown avenue. He had been a druggist in this city for thirty-three years, suffered an attack a week ago, but after remaining in bed a day apparently recovered. Death was due to Bright's disease. He was sixty years old.

Dr. Bower is survived by his widow, Mrs. Katherine Bower, one son, George F. Bower, and a daughter, Mrs. Maximilian Sonntag, of Delamater. Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 2 o'clock, at the Bower home, 3218 Germantown avenue. The services will be conducted by the Rev. T. Iseberger, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Broad and Westmoreland streets. Interment will be made in Northwood Cemetery.

Dr. Bower was born in Dauphin county, and after attending the public schools there took the course at Johns Hopkins University. Later he graduated from the Medical-Chirurgical College. He then opened a drug store in Lykens, Pa., moving to this city thirty-three years ago. He was a member of the Philadelphia County Medical Society, a thirty-second degree Mason, organizer of Kenderton Lodge, I. O. G. P., and a member of the Red Men.

SALVATIONISTS GIVE HOUSE TO EVICTED POOR FAMILY

"A man may be down, but he is never out." This comforting message of the Salvation Army applies not only to man, but to women and children as well.

Mrs. Charles Dickinson and her four children can attest to this. They were evicted from 335 North Wyoita street last night for failure to pay the rent. Mrs. Dickinson's husband left home several days ago and has not been located.

Lieutenant Savage, of the Thirty-ninth street and Lancaster avenue police station, took the family and the furniture to the police station. The police did all that was possible to comfort them, and the lieutenant informed the Salvation Army at Fifty-fourth street and Lancaster avenue.

JITNEYS MAY APPEAR IN JERSEY SUBURBS

Town Officials Declare They Will Protect and Assist Any Lines That Are Established

ZONE-FARE SYSTEM CAUSE

Jitneys will probably make their appearance in Jersey suburbs as the result of the zone fare system to go into effect on the trolley lines of Camden next week.

Officials of towns are in arms over what they believe is an extortionate rate of fares under the new arrangement, and announce that they will protect any jitney lines that are established and offer all assistance possible.

A meeting of suburb officials will probably be called next week to take action upon the fare raise. Officials declare that they did not have a chance to protest against the new order.

"It is an outrage to charge Jersey-men such exorbitant fares when in Philadelphia persons can ride several miles for a nickel," is the opinion of one.

Employees of the Camden and Gloucester shipyards who reside in the lower end of Camden and in Gloucester will be most benefited by the new fare rates.

On the other hand, those who live in the suburbs will be required to pay from three to ten cents more each way.

The employees can board the cars at Broadway and Berkeley street, Camden, or below that point, and ride to the New York shipyard for five cents, and from Broadway and Jackson street for three cents. To the Gloucester shipyard it will cost four cents more.

The shipyard workers in Gloucester will be able to board the cars at Broadway and Middlesex street and ride to either shipyard for three cents. At present with a seven-cent fare the cars are overcrowded.

The shipyard employees residing in Haddonfield will be required to pay eleven cents into Broadway and Federal street and five cents more to the Camden shipyard, or nine cents more to Gloucester, while now the rate is seven cents, with one cent extra for a transfer.

From Haddon Heights, another suburb, it will cost eleven cents to the ferry, and the same rate to the shipyards, while now it costs eight cents with a transfer. Residents of Woodbury, Mantua, National Park and Blackwood will also have to pay more.

The rate of fare to National Park from Gloucester now is seven cents and it will jump to eleven cents. From Camden it will cost twice to one cent, which is three cents more than the present rate.

HELD FOR THEFTS OF ELECTRICAL APPARATUS

Man Alleged to Have Swindled Numerous Large Firms in City Is Caught

Samuel A. Daw, thirty-two years old, of Nineteenth and Wallace streets, was held under $1500 bail for court by Magistrate Boyle today, charged with having falsely obtained electrical equipment amounting to $5000.

According to the police Daw used reputation banks of the Atwater Kent Company, 4037 Stanton avenue. His method was to call up an electrical equipment company and order some piece of electrical machinery for the Atwater Kent Company. Then his accomplice would drive a truck to the equipment company and collect the material ordered.

His second method was to buy the material just before the banks of the city closed, with a check from the electrical firm of Sweet & Sweet Company, of Sixteenth and Brown streets, bearing the name of H. S. Sweet.

Daw was arrested two days ago when his driver went to the L. C. Manufacturing Company, 102 North Third street, with a requisition blank which a clerk noticed was not properly indorsed. The police were notified, the driver and the wagon followed, and Daw was arrested at Seventh and Locust streets.

The material, according to the police, was sold in Chester and Camden. Firms, which are said to have lost material in a similar way include Westinghouse Electric Company, Frank A. Stewart Company, 29 North Seventh street, Robbins & Myers, 1118 Chestnut street, O'Brien Machinery Company, 119 North Third street, Osterlupp Electric Company, 1013 Race street, Deal Manufacturing Company, 1395 Race street, George Schaeffner, 145 North Third street, Fairbanks Company, Seventh and Arch streets, and the Stewart Product Service Station, 641 North Broad street.

BLOOD AND WOMAN'S HAIR IN STOLEN AUTO

Machine Missing Since Thursday Wrecked Near Lancaster. Accident a Mystery

An automobile owned by J. Abbott Wiggins, of 7133 Cresheim road, stolen from Moravian street, near the Union League, on Thursday night, was found wrecked today in a culvert near the Pennsylvania Railroad crossing at Salsburg, Pa.

Strains of a woman's hair were found in the machine, which was splattered with blood. Local hospitals reported no injured persons were treated last night, and residents of the town, which is near Lancaster, can throw no light on the accident.

Two suits of clothing are reported to have been found in the car. According to Mr. Wiggins, the clothing may be a raincoat and a pair of overalls that were in the car when it was stolen.

Mr. Wiggins is a son of John R. Wiggins, a builder of this city, and is associated with him in business. The senior Mr. Wiggins was lieutenant colonel on Governor Pennypacker's staff.

The car was stolen between 7 and 8 o'clock on Thursday night while Mr. Wiggins was dining at the Union League. It was seen at 9:30 o'clock that night in Fairmount Park.

Do You Chafe?

Have you given up golf in hot weather? Do you leave before a ball game is half over? Do you find it hard to sleep?

Do your corsets make you miserable? Do you perspire over-freely? Does your skin become so irritated that you are a nervous wreck in hot weather?

Do diaper rash and teething rash make your tender skin all blotchy and raw so that you are a very unhappy, fretful baby?

Kora-Konia relieves and heals chafed skin. It is perspiration-proof, will not readily wash away, "stays put" all day. Use Kora-Konia and be glad.

A doctor gave us the idea for Kora-Konia. It is used in hospitals to relieve bed patients. Kora-Konia soothes and heals. Great for sunburn.

Kora-Konia gives instant relief to little chafed legs. It dries up raw spots and adheres. Kora-Konia has changed many cries into coos.
